The Hôtel de la Poste is a prestigious establishment with a fascinating historical past. The hotel is at the very heart of a protected natural site and overlooks the river: an ideal starting point to many walks in the region. The building itself dates back to 1730. The interior has been beautifully preserved and offers a classical decoration. The rooms, most of them with a panoramic view of the Semois valley and the Bouillon castle, have a timeless romantic atmosphere. The hotel has a restaurant, a brasserie, a bar, a lounge, a terrace, conference room and a garage. Its kitchen is renowned for its refined gastronomy. Many celebrities have enjoyed staying here, among them Emperor Napoleon III in 1870.
