Welcome to Athus Museum and Steel at Athus. Discover the universe and the history of the iron and steel industry through the men who worked there.

Come and meet an important era of Belgian industry, discover the world and the history of iron and steel at the Museum of Steel and Athus.

More than 300 tools and photos explain the functioning of a steel industry, retrace its history and present the working conditions of men who have contributed to the region's prosperity. The museum is on the site of the former steel industry.

A fresco describing the process of making steel is visible on site. A film describing the Athus factory and then its conversion is also on site.

Open also by appointment.

Children - 12 years old: free.
