La Pommeraie, in Gembloux, is a fruit growing estate established in 1936. It grew more impressively with time, with 23,000 trees over 15 hectares to this day.

To protect nature, the use of pesticide is limited to the strict minimum.

Come and visit the site, learn about ecological techniques, discover old and new fruit varieties in the orchards. A tasting of apples, pear or one of the homemade apéritifs will conclude the experience.

Visits for groups only, booking essential.
