European Sustainable Energy Week (EUSEW) is a month-long series of activities to build a secure energy future for Europe. It brings together public authorities, private companies, NGOs and consumers to promote initiatives to save energy and move towards renewables for clean, secure and efficient power.

This event celebrates sustainable energy throughout Europe and highlights different options for the future through exhibitions, workshops, conferences... . The 2020 event will be digital, the next "In Real Life" one will be in 2021.

EUSEW will be celebrated through 43 European countries that week, with a total of 720 celebrations taking place.

This includes:

- The European Youth Energy Day
- Policy conference (3 days) to discuss the European Green Deal
- An award ceremony
