Set in the former international station of Treignes, the steam railway museum presents a precious record of Belgium's rail and industrial history.

Opened in 1994, the site invites you to discover, on 4 tracks each 100 metres wide, vintage steam locomotives, diesel rail cars, trains from the 50's, passenger coaches and service equipment. All belong to the Steam railway of the Three Valleys' collections.

The museum also organises temporary exhibitions around the railway and steam trains world.

Themed days also are organised and everyone is welcome to join: modelism, vintage carriages brought back on track and of course the steam festival, not to be missed.
