Step back in time as you enter the Petit Moulin d'Arenberg in Rebecq. Enjoy visiting the neighbouring beer house.

Le Petit Moulin d'Arenberg is a veritable vestige of the medieval economic activity. Thanks to the work of some enthusiasts you will see how the millstone works at the beginning of last century.

The impressive machinery turns thanks to the Senne which flows very close. Let the miller teach you the manufacturing processes of the time. The evolution of grinders through time and how the grain became flour.

The House of Beer

The annexes of the Petit Moulin include old renovated stables. One of these houses is the house of beer.

Installed in the cave of the Petit Moulin in collaboration with the local brewery Lefèbvre, the Maison de la Bière reveals some secrets about its manufacture before bottling itself.

An explanatory film and didactic panels marks the visit. Not to mention the tools of period work and the antique and unusual collections.
