Visitors can discover the many secrets of fresh water at Source O Rama, in the heart of the Parc des Sources de Chaudfontaine. This fun, family-friendly visit can be combined with a stroll through the nearby Modern Art Museum, the ArtHouse.

Water, so precious but so little known

WaterHouse offers a wonderful journey throughout a 4D experience: following the 60 years in the life of a drop of water, from falling from a cloud to finding its way to a bottle.

The museum's dynamic exhibition delights all generations and explains the many cycles the water goes through the sky, storms, underground rivers, groundwater... but also what a molecule of water is made of and what happens in the human body.

Visitors will also learn about water resources both throughout the world and in the future, as well as how to better manage them and how pollution affects this precious liquid.

We loved...

The simulator: step on this dynamic platform, face the screen... and suddenly you are immersed in a new adventure, a drop of water's... Thrills ahead! The last part of the visit is particularly exciting too.

Combined visit: ArtHouse, a modern art museum
